THE H. C. MURRAY COMPANY

workers was received with enthusiasm, following an inspiring address by Frederick W. Kaye, executive manager of the campaign, who stressed in vigorous terms the need of everyone putting his shoulder to the wheel and keeping it turning until the last dollar toward the fund has been raised.

Mr. Kaye outlined the possibilities for good that have been lying dormant in relation to what the people might and can do in such an institution as the Y. M. C. A. He pictured the Y of the future as the connecting link in a united community life of the city, of making it the hub of the city's social, civic and athletic life, around which every conceivable activity might revolve for the benefit of the entire community. With a home costing $100,000, he declared that the Y. M. C. A. should be utilized as a public forum through which the people might discuss their own civic problems and agree to the onward march of progress.

Mr. Kaye emphasized the point that the hardest part of the campaign comes during the latter end, when interest is apt to wane.

One of the contributions announced Wednesday night was for $1,000, but the name of the donor was not made public. An appealing supper was served by the Women's auxiliary of the Y. About 75 workers were present. The next meeting will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, when it is expected that more than half of the required amount will have been raised. Today (Thursday) a huge thermometer, showing the progress of the campaign, will be erected in the center of the city.

That the Central Vermont railroad is being money on its passenger service between New London and the state line, and residents of Willimantic and other towns along the line are asking for a better service, was brought out at a hearing held in this city Wednesday morning on the application of Joseph Hochberg of 44 South Park street, this city, for a license to operate a line between Main and Railroad streets, Willimantic, and Main street in Stafford Springs. The hearing was conducted at the police station by Joseph W. Alton of the public utilities commission.

The application as read by Commissioner Alton petitioned the public utilities commission for permission to run between the points mentioned, using two automobiles, one of five passenger capacity, the other to carry seven passengers, over a line leaving Willimantic, stopping at Eastford, Stafford Springs, and ending at South Willimantic West Willimantic and terminal at Stafford Springs.

Notice had been given to persons interested and the only protest received by the commissioner was from W. R. Eastman, general agent of the passenger department of the Central Vermont railroad.

Those who spoke in favor of Hochberg's running over the line were Daniel P. Dunn, Frank P. Fenner, Frank F. Fenner, Bert G. Hall, Frank M. Lincoln and John T. Nichols.

Hochberg submitted the prepared schedule for running on the line, giving the fare as follows: Fifty cents to Eastford, 75 cents to Stafford Springs, and $1 to Stafford Springs.

Mr. Eastman, representing the Central Vermont railroad, said that the railroad was opposed, as trains now being run were a financial loss to the company and there was danger of two of them being taken off the 7.5 a. m. from Stafford Springs and the 2.15 p. m. from Willimantic. This latter train is now being held in Willimantic 45 minutes to accommodate passengers, most of whom are school children traveling at reduced rates. The operating expense of these two trains is practically double the income. Two other trains are also run at a loss.

Attorney Fisk said that he had only had the case for one day, but a necessary condition of another meeting he could have many people to testify to the need of the proposed line.

Commissioner Alton then adjourned the hearing. The testimony of the witnesses will be laid before the entire public utilities commission and notice of the decision will soon reach this city.

The Willimantic Rotary club held its weekly meeting Wednesday evening. The speaker was Mr. J. M. Mudgett, who read a letter from the New Britain Rotary club. An invitation from the New Britain Rotary club was read referring to ladies night at the Shuttlesworth Hotel. This (Thursday) evening, Fred D. Jordan spoke regarding the Y. M. C. A. drive, asking for support. Tickets for the normal school, held at the Willimantic high school auditorium next Tuesday evening were received from George S. Shaffer. Harry W. Standish was in charge.

Fire destroyed a large part of the wood land east of the town of Willimantic, between Phelps' crossing and the old Downing farm, Wednesday. The fire was covered in the forenoon and Fire Warden Abbe was notified. North Willimantic Deputy Wilbur G. Stevens looked after the fire and had men out fighting it soon after dark.

A special meeting of the board of aldermen was held in the town hall Wednesday evening. Mayor Charles A. Gates presided. The first business of the meeting was the acceptance of the resignation of E. M. Normandin, city auditor and John T. Carlson, city clerk. The second ward, pressing business affairs were the cause of both resignations. The notice for the special meeting of the aldermen was then voted waived and they proceeded to nominate candidates to fill the vacancies caused by the resignations. Alderman Roy nominated William E. Webster for city auditor and Alderman Jackson named Helderia Trudeau for alderman of the second ward. Several members unanimously elected for the unexpired term. First readers of sidewalk applications by City Clerk John B. Edgerton followed. The petition was read for the extension of city water service from South street to Summer street and favorable resolutions were passed. The petition was read to allow the installation of concrete sidewalks in the city without a curb stone. Robert Mitchell, city engineer, explained that the sidewalk would be 6 feet in width, extending from the property lines with a two-foot grass strip from the concrete to the gutter. The sidewalk was to be subject to the approval of the street committee. A resolution was adopted to pay $400 to Harding H. Piche, of Columbia avenue, for damages. The ice question was then taken up. It was voted to sell the ice, but the proceeds to revert as usual to the city treasury. At a suggestion from Alderman Roy, a resolution was adopted to call for bids for the city ice, but a contract produced by Louis Ives, who has been buying the city ice for the past few years, showed that he had the privilege of an option for the city ice for 1922. The amendment was accordingly withdrawn. The ice for 1922 was given to Mr. Ives, was then changed by striking out the words "during the present year," which gives the city the right to buy the ice for 1922 and leaves him liable to any fluctuation in the price of ice. This agreement was reached when the amount of money expended for the city ice for 1922 was $10,000. The ice question was then taken up. The meeting adjourned at 10:15.

At a meeting of the police committee and Mayor Charles A. Gates held Monday evening the police department was made Officer Thomas Grady for permanent duty. William Hurley, democrat, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Louis Paulhus, a Croat Bombardier, republican.

of the entertainment, calling upon Frank H. Ross for a brief address concerning the citizens' training camp at Camp Devens in August. Judge Foss said that the quota for this district was 25, and all expenses would be paid by the government. The camp, although military, is not as strict as under regular training and gives the young men a chance to learn military training and enjoy a fine vacation at the expense of the government. All that is required of the applicant is ability and willingness to take the course at the camp and train as required.

Capt. James B. Fullerton told of the lack of training of the boys overseas in the World War when they had to be fronted did not know how to adjust a bayonet or gas mask. "We do not want any of our boys sent into battle in the condition," he said, "so let's get back of the citizens' training camp and send the full quota from this district." He also spoke of the Y drive, saying that the Y drive would be made at the Y. All recruits allowed membership and voting privileges, and that the association stands to be as large as the community is large. The meeting closed at 1:30 o'clock with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

Willimantic Chamber of Commerce at special meeting voted to lease the rooms on the second floor of the building to the members now occupy from Hyman Rosenberg, who recently purchased the Realty company, at an annual rental of $1,000. The lease is to run for 10 years, with privilege to renew for 10 years additional upon 60 days notice. Rent is to be furnished 70 days between Oct. 15 and May 15 of each year, and the Chamber of Commerce binds itself not to sublet to any manufacturer or business.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mabel P. Hunt were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Columbia Congregational church. Rev. Harry S. McCready officiated. The burial was in the cemetery. The bereaved were Everett Hunt, T. F. O'Neill, Henry Jaramas and Clayton Hunt. Funeral Director Jay M. Shepard was in charge.

Tuesday afternoon about 1 o'clock, Angelo Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Christian, was riding a bicycle at the corner of Downer street and Liberty street, and did not see an automobile which was going down at the junction of the street. The automobile was driven and owned by Frank E. Strout of 372 Fountain street. Providence. The driver sounded his horn and did everything to avert an accident. The car was heading for the intersection of the street. The driver's right leg was broken in two places, also several ribs were fractured. Dr. M. R. Scanlon gave the boy medical aid. The car was towed to the Rhode Island hospital. Providence, where it was repaired. Wednesday that he was resting comfortably.

Tuesday, Memorial day, is the first time since the day was set apart to decorate the graves of the veterans of the Civil war that no exercises were held. Through some cause or misunderstanding there were no exercises held in the hall or decorating of the soldiers' monuments in the park. Here being only three O. A. C. veterans of the local post left. It was expected that the American Legion post would take charge of the exercises. A large crowd of those who live in the suburbs came to the village expecting to attend the exercises. The band played several selections and Cornetist Holmes blew Taps, and then the crowd dispersed. The commander of the American Legion post was unable to be present and the adjutant of the post was also absent. The members of the local post who in their khaki uniforms were present to take part in the exercises returned to their homes. The O. A. C. veterans were held by the day to which they look forward, when they can pay tribute to their comrades, should they be unopposed.
